

Claire's Death - One Week Later

Submitted by Lena on Tue, 03/29/2011 - 12:40am

Today it's been a week since she passed on. I realize how much of my attention she always insisted on getting as I open up once again to the other animal souls in my family.

We are all hurting in our own way.

There is an eerie silence in the house.

All of the dog toys are laying around inside instead of being collected and delivered to the great outdoors.

I wait for a sign of her presence but receive none.

It's lonely.

Source URL: <https://lenaswanson.com/blog/2011-03-29-claires-death-one-week-later>